TREATIES ARE ORDERED SENT TO THE SENATE

Available Report on Pacific Pact Is With Vote of 10 to 3.

NOT TO BE AN "ALLIANCE"

Consent Agreed to Following Conference With President Harding. Endorsement of Naval Limitation Treaties Is Made Unanimous.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The four-power Pacific treaty, together with its supplements and the naval limitation and submarine treaties were ordered favorably reported today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The reservations to the four-power treaty embody the compromise suggested after a conference with President Harding and declares that nothing in the treaty shall be construed as an alliance. It was approved by a 10-3 vote, also by a division of 10-3 the four-power treaty then was ordered to the Senate.

The vote by which the naval limitation and submarine treaties were reported was unanimous.

President Harding is understood to have told Republican members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that while he felt some reduction should be made in the navy personnel the total number of enlisted men should not be kept under 50,000. He also said to have strongly urged legislation for conversion of two battleships into aircraft carriers. While the question as to whether the 50 members of the first year class at Annapolis to be graduated in June could be commissioned was not considered in detail, it was stated that the president advocated a sharp reduction in the number of men to be admitted to the academy each year in the future.

Increase in Price of Bread Is Due Solely to Advance in Price of Flour, Bakers Say

The recent advance in the price of flour, not a desire for larger profit, is declared by the bakers to be the cause of the increase in the price of bread from eight to 10 cents, wholesale, and from 10 to 12 cents, retail.

"Flour of the quality required for making the best bread that cost $3.90 a barrel in July 1914, before the World War, began, and $7.35 a few weeks ago," said a representative of the Payette Baking Company this morning, "now costs $9.35, an increase of $2 a barrel, or 27 per cent within a few weeks."

"Labor, which next to flour is the largest item of expense, is correspondingly higher now than before the war. Ovenmen who made $18 to $25 in 1914 now make $30 to $35 a week. Not a single item of expense, or a single ingredient, except sugar, of which very little is used, is back to pre-war basis, and only very few have been reduced much below the wartime level."

"In 1914 we were giving dealers 23 ounces of bread for eight cents. Today we are giving them 22 ounces for 10 cents, which means that we are receiving 15 per cent less for our product than we were before the war."

"With the existing schedule of producing costs bakers simply cannot make a fair profit on bread sold at eight cents wholesale. The bakers who are selling at less plainly do not know their own cost of manufacture."

"Cheap flour and unskilled labor might be employed and the cost of making bread reduced, but the bakers who would adopt such a policy would soon find themselves without customers. The bread baked in modern bakeries must be kept up to standard which requires the best materials that money can buy and the most skilled bakers that can be employed. If otherwise, the people will not buy the product and the establishment will be forced to quit business."

"I am not prepared to say whether the profit of two cents a loaf which retailers receive is too much, because I have no means of knowing what their overhead costs are. I know that two cents on eight-cent bread gives a better return on the retailer's investment than two cents on 10-cent bread. The former is a profit of 25 per cent, the latter of only 20 per cent of the capital invested. To what extent frequency with which this capital is turned over by the retailer figures in his calculation of profit I am not prepared to say."

"Bakers, as a whole, I believe, have and are paying the costs of manufacture wherever and as closely as they possibly can and stay in business. They are aware of the very insistent demand for lower prices for everything entering into the cost of a loaf of bread, but when flour, which represents 40 per cent or more of the cost of making bread, jumps 25 or 30 per cent, they have no alternative but to advance the price of their product."

LONG LIST OF CASES FOR MARCH CRIMINAL COURT

Two Hundred Forty-Five Returned, With 10 Days Yet to Go Before Opening of Term.

March term of criminal court will be opened Monday, March 6, with George Stewart, Wilbur Randolph and Lucy Stewart charged jointly with the murder of Paul Newcomer heading the trial list. The case will be the first to come before the grand jury and will be called for trial immediately following their action. It is the only murder case to come before the grand jury. Elmer Miller of Vanderhill, charged with the murder of his wife, was indicted before the December grand jury. While murders have been numerous during the last three months these are the only two apprehended. Miller will be tried the third week.

The March session trial list is one of the largest in several years and even larger than many sessions before the advent of prohibition. There are already 245 cases returned with 10 more days' time.

At the last December session there were 225 cases listed for trial and the September session numbered 217. At the March session 1920 there were 189 cases listed; at the June session 1920 there were 124 cases listed and at the September session 1920 there were 178 cases. The list shows that there has been not only an increase in the number of cases but also an increase in those of a serious nature.

Of the total number of cases listed for trial at the coming session there are 26 charged with violation of the liquor laws, 11 with violation of the automobile laws.

Bonus Committee Votes Down Sales Tax Proposition

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Failure of the special sub-committee of Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee to approve any provision for financing of the military bonus after rejecting the sales tax proposal by a vote of seven to two had placed the question again today in the hands of the entire majority membership of the committee for further study of the situation.

In addition to the vote against the sales tax the sub-committee was understood to have gone on record yesterday five to four in favor of reporting out a bonus bill without any provision for raising the revenue. The majority members of the committee will not meet again until next Tuesday.

Some supporters of the sales tax plan, however, were planning to hope today to the possibility that President Harding might again take a hand in the situation.

STAR BREWERY SEIZED

Greensburg Concerns Beer Above Half Per Cent. Charge.

GREENSBURG, Feb. 25.—Federal officers seized the Star Brewery yesterday afternoon and are now in full charge of the property. The action came as the result of a test of numerous samples of the product of the local brewery seized upon the order of Federal Prohibition Commissioner John Enclis.

The allegation made in the original complaint of the prohibition agent was that the company manufactured more than one-half of one per cent allowed by law. The chemical analysis taken upon attested to the accuracy of the suspicions of the federal officers which resulted in the seizure of the plant.

Ted Brown, aged 29 years, of Mathews, Greene county, died Friday afternoon at the Uniontown hospital following an operation for a broken pelvis, suffered recently in a mine accident.

Saton Hill Teacher Dies. GREENSBURG, Feb. 25.—Sister Raphael Kane, 65 years old, died at Saton Hill Tuesday morning. She had been a teacher at Saton Hill for more than 40 years.

BREAKNECK MAN EXHIBITS LIVE GRASSHOPPERS

Grasshoppers in February may seem unusual, but evidence of their existence was produced in the office of The Courier this afternoon by James Martin of Breakneck, who said he picked them up in a field of John Hillel of Breakneck. They were more than an inch long but appeared to have been but recently hatched, being of the large species. Mr. Martin had the two in a small tin box. There were others in the field, he said.

STATISTICS ON MANUFACTURES IN CONNELLVILLE

Comparative Summary Shows Material Gain for 1919 Over 1914.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The Department of Commerce, through the Bureau of the Census, announces a preliminary statement of the general results of the 1920 census of manufactures, covering the year 1919, for cities in Pennsylvania having a population of 10,000 to 25,000. The figures are preliminary and subject to such change and correction as may be found necessary from a further examination of the reports.

The census of manufactures, 1919, like that of 1914, excluded the hand trucks, the building trades, and the neighborhood industries, and took account only of establishments conducted under the so-called factory system. The word "establishment" as used in the census reports may mean more than one mill or plant, provided they are owned or controlled and operated by a single individual, partnership, corporation, or other owner or operator, and are located in the same town or city.

The reports were taken from the calendar year ending December 31, 1919, or the business year of the establishment most nearly conforming to that calendar year.

Explosion of 30 Tons of Dynamite Rocks Chicago; Thousands Windows Broken

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Chicago and lovers of its suburbs today found out just what caused the explosion which shook them to their foundations and caused a frenzy of excitement last night.

Thirty tons of dynamite let go in a quarry southwest of the city shortly before 5 o'clock, and thousands of residents went to bed not knowing just what happened to shake them. Damage property and given rise to rumors of concerted bombing squads, and earthquakes, a falling meteor and disaster to some of the major manufacturing plants.

For an hour after the blast Chicago and its suburbs were in a state of the smashing of glass in thousands of windows, the shaking of buildings, and the death of thousands of dollars.

The cause of the explosion probably will never be known. It is possible that a case of the dynamite fell on another case or that a rather fell on a case.

The damage is estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Guillotine Snuffs Out Life of Landru, Slayer Of 10 Women and a Boy

By Associated Press.

VERSAILLES, Feb. 25.—Henry D. Landru, convicted of the murder of 10 women and one youth, gave his life this morning in exchange for the 11 he had taken.

The triangular knife of the guillotine fell at 8:05 o'clock, 25 minutes after the time originally set for the execution, and causing many to express the erroneous opinion that Landru was making a confession. Landru refused the sacraments, but conversed a few moments with a priest.

Henri Desire Landru, "the Bluebeard of Gambais," was arrested on April 4, 1919, on 11 counts of murder growing out of the disappearance of a boy and 10 women to whom he had promised marriage. The character of the crimes was so heinous that 283 women of all ages from 20 to 60, many of them foolish and wealthy widows, was born in Paris in 1889. He was a mechanical engineer and had been well educated.

Landru had previously engaged the attention of the police through his swindling operations for which he was sentenced to prison for a term of four years. He was married and had two grown children. He was a dark-visaged man with shilling bald head and long, black whiskers and during the progress of his trial for murder, which began November 7, 1921, before the Versailles Assize and ended the following November 30, he participated dramatically in his own defense.

The backbone of his defense was that there was an absolute lack of proof that the "missing" women were dead. The legal accusations against him were comprised in 50,000 pages of evidence which required three days to read in court. About 125 witnesses appeared for the prosecution and defense. A large quantity of charred bones and ashes, alleged to be the remains of Landru's victims, was brought to Versailles in five sealed cases, as well as many of the personal belongings found in the little villa at Gambais where the modern Bluebeard lured his fiancées to death.

Landru's motive in committing the murders was the greed of robbing the women of their meagre savings. The police proved that he rented the cottage at Gambais, a few miles from Paris, advertised in various matrimonial papers and enticed his victims to the villa where all trace of them was lost.

After his arrest, the house was ransacked and practically demolished by the police in an effort to find the remains of the missing women. A few bones were unearthed as well as some hair but not enough to form a corpus delicti. The bluebeard, according to the police, killed his victims and incinerated the bodies in a cook stove.

FEDERAL COURT ENJOINS CERTAIN UNION PRACTICES

Which Have Retarded Building Operations in All Parts of the Country.

A NEW BILL OF RIGHTS

Is Formulated to Govern the Conduct of Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers; Executive Officers Consent to Enforce Embodiment Principles.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Executive heads of the international organization of bricklayers, masons and plasterers, in conference yesterday with Attorney General Daugherty, consented to the entry of a decree in the federal court at New York, enjoining certain practices of the union which have been under investigation by the government.

The decree, which is directed against a "vicious practice," a series of "Nation-wide abuses" and "various discriminations" by the 100,000 members of the organization in building operations throughout the country, was described by Mr. Daugherty as "a new bill of rights for the home builder, the rent payer, the manufacturer and the business man who has to build."

It lays down and adopts, he said, four basic principles:

"1. There is to be no limit to the productive capacity of the individual workman within the working day, or any other given time.

"2. There is to be no limitation upon the right of the employer to purchase his material wherever and whenever and from whomsoever he may choose, whether those materials be union made or otherwise.

"3. There is to be no favoritism shown by organized labor towards employers or trade associations or contractors' associations, and no discriminations are to be indulged in against the independent employer who may not be a member of such an association.

"4. The labor organization is not to be used, or permit itself to be used, by material men or contractors or subcontractors as an instrument for the collection of debts or enforcement of the payment of alleged claims."

Discussing the effect of the decree upon the building situation throughout the country, Mr. Daugherty declared it freed employers from "the shackles" thrown around them by "these numerous illegal restrictions."

It recognized "all the lawful aims or objects of labor unionism" and finally, "and the most important, it gives the public a chance. There is nothing in the decree, he asserted, providing the regulation of the hours or conditions of labor by the unions.

"It does, however," he said, "unqualifiedly forbid any concerted effort at curtailment of production by any such limitations upon the productive capacity of the individual. In a word it eliminates the penalizing of ability and the discouragement of efficiency."

Numerous Changes Coming at Wright-Metzler Stores

Several changes in the management of various departments of the Wright-Metzler Company will be made soon, due to resignations of the heads of two and a furlough granted another. The grocery and women's ready-to-wear departments will be under new managers, as will the bakery and cafeteria.

Since coming to Connellsville, Mr. Zinn, formerly of Brownsville, has made many friends in the city and he will continue his residence here for an indefinite period. He will take a short rest when his resignation takes effect. His successor has not yet been named.

He will go from here to the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. B. Gillespie, in Bogota, N. J., and expects to sail for Europe about April 1. Plot to Flood Large Cities With Alcohol Nipped by Officers

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Chicago's prohibition agents announced today following their return from a week's investigation in three states that they had uncovered a plot to flood Chicago and other large cities with grain alcohol to be used in making bootleg whiskey. They said the principals had been arrested at Columbus, O., and that five cars of alcohol had been confiscated in four cities.

The investigation was started three weeks ago following the arrest of M. J. Larns, former Ohio University student, who was taken by the agents when they alleged he attempted to load a car of alcohol here. He said the liquor had been shipped to him to be sold to druggists and that he was the representative of the Consolidated Drug Company of Columbus.

The agents said they found that several business men had bought 100,000 gallons of alcohol from the government to be denatured but the agent, said that instead it was shipped to other cities to be sold to saloon keepers.

Other cities named were Wheeling, W. Va., Dayton, O. and Covington, Ky.

Paperhangers Say Their New Scale Provides No Advances Except by Re-Classification

M. T. Keller, president and business agent of Local Union No. 959, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, explained this morning that the scale of wages the union has submitted to the retail druggists and other employers for the existing scale except to the extent that there has been a re-classification of the more expensive and higher grades of paper.

"Our rate of 20 cents per single roll for lap work and 25 cents for vertical and flat, are exactly the same as were paid journeyman under the scale now in force," said Mr. Keller.

"For papering kitchens, halls and bathrooms, alone, our rate is five cents above the rate when no other rooms are included in a whole house. Under the present scale, however, paper, two-thirds painting and high grade and embossed papers are in a single group for which journeyman are paid the rate of 35 cents a roll. The new scale we have prepared makes three divisions of this group because of the extent, time and time required in using the several different grades of paper. For outside work we have fixed 35 cents a roll, an advance of five cents over the present scale. For two-thirds painting the rate is 40 cents, an advance of five cents. High grade and embossed papers differ so much in texture and difficulty in handling, that our scale provides a range of from 45 to 75 cents a roll.

"In these respects only does our scale provide higher pay for journeymen than has been paid for two years. The rate of 35 cents per hour for burles, sunlax and other hangings of this class and other day work, is the rate of the old scale.

"The scale proposed by the retailers does not give the consumer any advantages over the scale now in force. The dealers get all the benefit of the reduction they propose to make in the rates paid to journeymen. Under all scales the retailers can charge 50 cents a roll and 55 cents a roll, in addition to the 10c and 15c, and pay the journeymen, but they charge the consumer the minimum. They make the difference and it is known that they have made more than the minimum without the consumer knowing it."

SMALL HOME OF PLEASING DESIGN

Colonial Bungalow Is Type That Will Appeal to Many.

SUITABLE FOR SMALL FAMILY

Is Economical House to Build, Yet Has Beauty That Is Usually Found Only in Expensive and Elaborate Homes.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.
Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF CHARGE on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 124 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

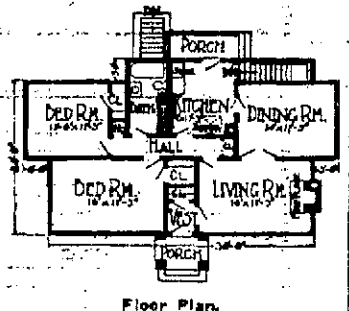

United rooms, or rooms that are needed only occasionally are conspicuous by their absence in modern home building designs. Cost of construction makes it imperative that the prospective home builder should select a design that will provide him with all the room necessary for himself and his family, but no more. That is why architects nowadays are planning small homes, but are so dividing the interiors that every inch of space will be of service continuously.

In connection with this article is shown one of the newer types of small home designs. This might be termed a "Colonial bungalow," as its front entrance and the porch, together with the balance of the windows, all follow the lines of the Colonial house. Here is a small house, an economical house to build, yet it has the beauty that is usually found only in more expensive and elaborate home building plans.

Much of the beauty of the front of this house is secured by the artistic use of trellises, which cost little, but, as will be seen, match the exterior of the house exactly. Then, too, there is the siding made of wide boards; and the artistic porch and entrance with the small gable above at the roof line. The front entrance is a small house, it contains five good-sized rooms and a bathroom, all on the one floor. In connection with the exterior view, there is shown a floor plan of the house. The building proper is 38 feet wide and 24 feet deep. The house is of standard frame construction, set on a concrete foundation that extends up only as far as the grade. This permits the artistic siding to extend to the ground, but at the same time provides a good basement under the whole of the house. The front entrance opens into a small vestibule at the far end of which is a closet for coats, hats and other articles for outdoor wear. To the right of this vestibule is the living room, 16 feet long and 11 feet, 8 inches wide. At the end of the living room, set in the outside wall, is an open fireplace. Back of the living room and connected with it by double doors is the dining room, 14 feet long and 11 feet 2 inches wide. The dining Room opening between these two rooms gives the living room a spaciousness and at the same time permits the owner to shut off the dining room. At the left of the dining room is the kitchen, 8 by 11 feet, 3 inches. The convenient arrangement of the kitchen and the placing of the kitchen equipment is shown on the plan.

At the left side of the house are the sleeping rooms and bathroom. The front bedroom is exactly the same size as the living room, 16 by 11 feet 8 inches. This is a front corner room, a location that makes it cheery and attractive. The second bedroom is at the back and is practically square, being 11 feet 6 inches by 11 feet 3 inches. These bedrooms are reached through a hall that is accessible both from the living room and from the kitchen. Opening off this hall, connected to both bedrooms and the other rooms of the house is the bathroom.

There are two entrances to the basement, one from outdoors alongside the rear porch and the other by stairs leading out of the kitchen. The basement is large enough so that it will accommodate the heating plant and fuel; a well-equipped laundry and storage rooms for fruits and vegetables and garden tools, etc.

This is the sort of small home that is popular, because it combines comfort and convenience without a very large investment. The exterior is attractive and when placed in a setting of green lawn, with flowers about it, will be a home that any family can be proud of.

Harding Will Accept Lincoln Memorial on Behalf of Nation

Copyright by Underwood & Underwood
Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D. C.

TEN years of the combined effort of architect, sculptor, artist and the Lincoln Memorial Commission, with the expenditure of more than $2,000,000, has brought to completion the splendid Lincoln Memorial at Washington which will be dedicated soon. The fact that the memorial for the Lincoln Memorial Commission, President Harding will accept it on behalf of the nation and former President Wilson will make a brief address on

This Memorial, a truly splendid achievement of modern art, stands at the head of a wide approach. Within the portico the great statue of Lincoln, by Daniel Chester French, is visible from a distance. From base to top the statue is over thirty feet high, the seated figure of Lincoln alone being twenty-two feet in height. As the structure is open to the action of the elements and subjected to seasonal variations of temperature, the greatest care has been taken to construct the Memorial of materials which will provide resistance to weather and at the same time lend beauty to the edifice.

Eight massive doors of bronze provide entrance to the Memorial, and stairways of bronze lead to the either end of the classic rectangle, in the center of which stands the statue of Lincoln.

Far above the statue, and blending harmoniously with Gaeber's mural paintings, are six bronze banners. These banners traverse the 144-foot ceiling end to end, dividing space with strips of sombre marble. The marble is held in place by a network of rectangular intermediaries, also of bronze.

An idea of the magnificence of this, our newest national shrine of honor, may be obtained when the size of these ceiling beams is considered. More than 45 tons of bronze was used in molding them. They measure 6 feet 2 1/2 inches in breadth, and have a depth of 2 feet. They present an exposed surface of approximately 8,000 square feet.

The use of a preponderance of bronze in the construction of this great Memorial is not the only indication of the purpose of its builders to provide a truly permanent structure, for twenty thousand pounds of copper are utilized in the flashings and in the main cornice, as well as in nine thousand feet of skylight which softly light the interior of the Memorial.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

When "Peck's Bad Boy" is flashed on the screen of the Soisson tonight one of the cleverest dog players will be seen in an important role. "Queenie" is her name. She is Jackie Coogan's pal and partner. "Queenie," according to her master, understands 500 English-spoken words and can perform any feat any other canine actor of stage or screen can do. In the Peck film, some of "Queenie's" antics are the cause of outbursts of laughter and applause. "Teddy" and other famed dog actors will have to watch their laurels from now on, for "Queenie" is setting a fast pace. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, "Stranger Than Fiction."

THE PARAMOUNT.

One of the most unusual stories to have ever been gotten ready for the screen is at the Paramount today, a four-star cast interpreting the characters in "So This Is Arizona," a stirring western novel that is filled with overflying with thrills. The story is timely, and especially appealing to the boys who saw service overseas. While it is not a war picture by any means, there is shown the adventures of a veteran who came back last in time to run head-on into a series of adventures that are half-raising. Monday and Tuesday, "Don't Get Personal."

THE ORPHEUM.

Conway Tearle in a new Selznick picture, "After Midnight," is the feature being shown today at the Orpheum. "After Midnight" is a Ralph Knapp Production, written by John Lynch and scenarized by Edward J. Montague, which has for its principal background that mystifying section of New York City—Chinatown. It is one of the best Chinatown pictures screened.

Monday and Tuesday, "The Call of Youth" will be shown, along with other features.

Little Gray Nuns of the North.
The Indian mission school at Resolute, in the Mackenzie country, Canadian Northwest, is under the supervision of the Little Gray Nuns of the North. This organization has a unique history, having been founded in Montreal nearly two centuries ago by a group of middle-aged ladies who, together under the leadership of Madame Pivoville for the purpose of accomplishing some good work in the world.

The present name of the order was derived from a decisive appellation leveled at the few original members in the beginning, for the people called them the Gray Sisters, from the fact that all were gray-haired and had agreed never to marry after forming their little association. They accepted the title thus bestowed on them, and adopted a somber gray habit to conform to it.

Cold South.

From observations made within recent years by Antarctic explorers, the average temperature of the southern hemisphere has been recalculated, as compared with the northern one, and the results differ, in some respects, from those heretofore accepted. It is found that the mean temperature south of the equator, for the entire year, is about two and three-quarter degrees lower than north of the equator. But the annual variation of temperature in the northern hemisphere is twice as large as in the southern, the summer temperature being much higher and the winter temperature correspondingly lower than those of the corresponding seasons in the southern half of the globe.

In the Realm of Fancy.
"I must admit," remarked the publisher, "that you have a wonderful imagination."
"Do you think I could write a reality novel?"
"You can go further than that, so far as imagination is concerned. You can write the literature describing the merits of our latest publications."

BEHAVIOR OF STUDENTS.

It becomes more or less nauseating to those persons closely associated with the high schools and colleges to hear the discharges uttered at "sporting" gatherings, about the moral decadence of the young men and women of today. It is not denied that there are occasional lapses from the requirements of a strict code of conduct, just as occurs in life outside of the educational institutions. But is beside the truth, and unfair as well, to say that the students of these days are shocking, immoral.

If what has been characterized as "hard-boiled" tendencies have developed in the lives of the young people today, it is merely a reflection in their conduct of what they observe among their elders. If a young girl bobs her hair, wears abbreviated skirts and "gaping" gossamer, nine times out of ten it will be found that she comes from a home where the mother strives by all the modern arts to appear as young as her daughter, and who spends so much of her time playing bridge or in attendance at the movies that she has neither time nor inclination to exercise that restraint over her children which is conducive to the development of character instead of the cultivation of a desire to have "a good time."

Inherently and naturally the young people of today are no worse than in our grandparents' time, but because of the modern environment there are more given to frivolity and gaiety. They enjoy a greater freedom from parental restraint and this, unfortunately, has in some instances been abused and that is seized upon by the critics and faultfinders as occasion to periodically break out into scathing denunciations of the behavior of young people.

Admission to discreet and proper conduct is never out of place and will not be resented by young people when offered in the proper spirit. But bitter criticism, when nothing is offered or proposed as a substitute, for the modern amusements which attract young people, creates resentment and accomplishes no good purpose. If the atmosphere of the home is kept wholesome and the example of the elders is stimulating to right ideals, the young people will be no more disposed to go aside from the straight and narrow way than those of earlier generations. The greater complexities of our modern life impose heavier burdens on parents just as they offer greater temptations to the young. There is, therefore, greater need now than formerly for a sympathetic understanding between parents and children and room for more charity and interest on part of those who could be helpful by constructive suggestions instead of harmful through peevish faultfinding.

The warning of the railroads that the coming of prosperity will bring a congestion of freight traffic shows the greater forehandness of the carriers in providing alibis than in preparing to meet emergencies.

The Erlinstone Corner Civil Service Commission can now adjourn sine die.

The net result of Sterling's Disarmament Conference appears to be the determination of the nations all factions to arm heavier than ever.

The 14 "also rans" in the postmaster race can hold their "lodges of sorrow" in their respective churches tomorrow.

In the matter of making wills lawyers are not unlike shoemakers whose families are often without shoes.

By increasing to 72 the number of "hand-pickers" to promulgate an entire state ticket the New Freedom Disarmament Conference adhered strictly to all the traditions and practices of the craft.

Speaking vaguely, where students display so-called "hard-boiled" tendencies, it is in that "scrambled" identity which is found among the elders in the home.

March Schreiber, carrier on the strong human note that has marked its editorial policy for many years. There are articles of the kind that people talk about: "Germany after the War," by Raymond Reucly, the French soldier and writer, "War at West," by Whittier Williams, who has been one of the workers himself. Chaucer's "Dewey's Leaves from My Autobiography," full of notable personalities and good stories. A discussion of "The Problem of the Superstitious Woman," by Caroline B. MacGill, and an article on "Why Do We Laugh?" by William McDougall. All of these might be called very human documents and as a matter of fact they are, not only in subject-matter but in the way they are written.

Thrift at the Bottom of Success

By S. W. STRAUSS,
President American Society for Thrift.

Sir Thomas Lipton was once asked to define his conception of the secrets of success and he replied as follows: "Savings is the first great principle of all success. It creates independence and gives a young man standing; it fills him with vigor. It stimulates him with the proper energy; in fact, it brings to him the better part of any success—happiness and contentment. If it were possible to inject the quality of saving into every boy we would have a great many more real men."

If one were to place a questionnaire in the hands of all the men in the world today who are achieving great success, asking them to outline the secrets of their achievements, it is more than likely that they would all answer with a definition describing the principles of thrift. It is recognized as one of the fundamentals necessary in rounding out a strong character.

This does not mean that great accomplishment depends on saving money, but it does mean that success must depend among other things on thrift of time, efficiency and elimination of waste. Unless one watches closely and exercises a great amount of will power, each day will bring a harvest of wasted time and lost opportunities.

The man who goes ahead and accomplishes worthy things in the world does so because he knows how to make the minutes count. He knows that every hour is precious and that if he is to keep to the front in the race for life he must not waste any of his time in idleness or in ways that are not of constructive value.

Industry should be the magic word to those who look forward to the future with visions of great success. Life is full of opportunities for those who have the alertness and ability to take advantage of them. But these opportunities are empty and meaningless to those who are not industrious and whose energies, moral courage and mental resourcefulness have been impaired by habits of thriftlessness.

There are thousands and thousands of good American boys today who are looking forward to the future with great expectations. The most valuable lesson they can learn, in seeking to bring about a realization of their aspirations, is that thrift lies at the bottom of success.

WHEN THE PAPER'S GONE TO PRESS.

I've sat at banquet tables, and I've seen the silver shine,
I've tasted every luxury on which we mortals dine.
I've heard the wit and eloquence of many a famous man,
I've had all sorts of dinners since my birth.
But there's one glad table somewhere that I'd like to see once more,
One bunch I'd like to meet with when the long day's work is over,
One meal I'd like to rush to after all the strife and stress—
That good old midnight supper when the paper's gone to press.

We held them in the old days in a hole down in the wall,
And many a night the table had no linen on at all.
And the food was far from dainty, but the gang which gathered round
Was the finest bunch of fellows that could anywhere be found.
Then we talked the long day over, with the list of various deeds
Which reporters live and share in, but the reader only reads;
We punctured them with satire, as the boys still do, I guess,
Who meet somewhere at midnight when the paper's gone to press.

Now the gang with which I gathered has been scattered far and wide,
And some of them are wealthy and some of them are in debt;
There's a new lad writing murders, and a new pen telling tales
Of his and some fellows in the hospitals and jails;
And I, who once was eager for excitement, sit sedate,
Doing idle rhymes for copy—just a drummer by the grate.
For my day of youth is over, age has brought me some success,
But it stopped these midnight parties when the paper's gone to press.

When all the town is sleeping and the midnight bells have tolled,
The boys who fill the columns will assemble as of old,
They'll be hungry just as I was, and they'll be as tired of cash
But the room will ring with laughter and the lightning will flash;
And some cub will sit in my place, but he'll never know or care
How many gray old-things now are wishing we were there,
For each old man has brought us, and we will miss the happiness
Of those good old midnight lunches when the paper's gone to press.

WORKING GIRLS LOOK HERE

Read What Mrs. Lucas Writes Concerning Her Troubles, Which May Be Just Like Yours

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had troubles that all women are apt to have, with pains in my back, weak, tired, nervous feelings and a weak stomach. I had been this way about a year and was unable to work or stand on my feet for any length of time. My husband's aunt told me how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done her and begged me to try it, so I did. All my pains and weaknesses are gone, my stomach is all right and I do my work at home and also work for Swift's Packing Company. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may publish my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. LUDU LUCAS, 719A Vandeventer St., St. Louis, Mo.

Again and again one woman tells another of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

You who work must keep yourself strong and well. You can't work if you are suffering from such troubles. Mrs. Lucas couldn't. She tried our Vegetable Compound and her letter tells you what it did for her. Give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial now.

WROCK OF GRACEFUL LINES
One may expect anything of a woman who wears a dress of this quality. This black Canton crepe has sleeves slit and pleated in an interesting fashion. Side panel and the two flowers, lavender and cell made of velvet ribbon, are notable features.

SEVEN-YEAR-ITCH EPIDEMIC

Hundreds of Folks Have It and Are Scratching Themselves.

Hundreds of Whetting (W. Va.) people are "digging" themselves. They are not former soldiers loaded with crotches. It is something worse than crotches. An epidemic of the seven-year itch has broken out there and physicians declare there are hundreds of cases in the city. Urgent warnings have been sent out that the disease is very contagious. Hundreds of people have complained during the last three weeks of itching and they were of the opinion that it was caused by some article they had eaten. Many blamed tomatoes as the cause.

When the disease had gained considerable headway and physicians were consulted it was diagnosed as the genuine seven-year itch.

Deep Digging.
The coal below the earth's crust deep. To reach it miners must dig deep. And the consumer, it is plain into his purse must dig again.

The Lucrative Accomplishment.
"You should scatter more sunshine when you appear in public. Make your audience laugh once in awhile."
"Make 'em laugh!" echoed Senator Sorghum. "If I could do that do you suppose I'd be sticking around at a statesman's salary? I'd be a movie comedian."

English Girls Athletic.
The craze for sport has taken its hold on English girls and they have equalled, and in many cases excelled the opposite sex in some of the most popular games.

News of Dunbar

Special to The Courier
DUNBAR, Feb. 25.—W. A. Hughes of Greensburg was visiting his son, Edward Hughes, superintendent of Oakmont Farm, at Beeson Mill this week. W. A. Hughes was until recently a Dunbar township farmer and lumberman.

John G. Senor was a recent visitor at the home of his brother, Edward, at East End, Pittsburg.

A goodly number of the congregation of Cove Run Free Methodist Church of Yauger Hollow, North Union township, visited the meeting at Peckin Chapel Thursday evening.

where Rev. Fred Diddle their pastor, has been conducting a series of meetings for the past week.

In the death of David Williams Dunbar loses one of its most useful citizens and most prominent merchants. He was the oldest store in Dunbar. Before the town was a borough, he conducted his store in a building near the old stone mill. Years later he erected the storehouse his store now occupies in Railroad street.

Edw. Williams in the public schools and continuing his studies thereafter he was known as a specialist in mathematics, and took great delight in mastering difficult problems—and the problem he could not solve was never found. For years he had written most of the legal papers for the people of a wide area and had befriended more people than perhaps any other Dunbarian.

He will be greatly missed by the people, and it will be a long time before Dunbar finds another "Davy" Williams. Dunbar will hardly seem Dunbar without him. Loyal to his church, loyal to his country and loyal to his friends, he has gone to the reward of the faithful, and many sincere mourners go about the streets, claiming the privilege of sharing with the bereaved ones their sorrow.

The old Dunbar garage near the top of the hill on Woodvale street, vacated for auto use when the new garage was occupied, has been turned into a skating rink under the management of Warren Buehler. The large floor has been put into fine condition and the hall is a busy place every evening.

J. V. Swenker of the Dunbar Garage returned from Pittsburgh yesterday with a fine new limousine body for his Packard and will hereafter have style as well as service.

A large number of new cross-ties just out of "pickle" have been placed along the F. R. Line between Peckin and Mount Braddock for use in the line the coming spring. The B. & O. is also preparing to use many new ties between the same points.

W. C. Smith is installing a fine new refrigerator plant at his meat market in Railroad street. It is expected to have it completed this week.

Planigan, the Conneltsville butcher has opened a new meat market here on Woodvale street.

Equitable Life Shows Gain

Paid Policyholders $83,675,000 Last Year—Assets Now $655,301,000.

The 62nd Annual Statement of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the U. S. gives evidence of the company's continued progress. The new insurance written in 1921 totaled $427,193,000, exclusive of $30,114,000 of group insurance. The outstanding insurance on December 31st had reached the $2,800,000,000 mark. Over $3,000,000 was paid to policyholders and beneficiaries during the year in death claims, matured endowments, dividends and annuities. The total payments to policyholders since the organization of the Equitable in 1859 exceed $1,450,000,000. The assets are $655,301,000, an increase of $28,000,000 over the previous year. The mortality rate for the year was the lowest in the entire history of the company.

A large increase was made in the number of policies payable on the monthly income plan, as well as those taken to protect business interests and to provide for inheritance taxes. Over 98% of the domestic death claims were paid within 24 hours after receipt of due proofs of death.—Advertisement 25-31

Our Tariff Wall Killing Cuban and Canadian Trade

CHARLES E. MITCHELL, PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL CITY BANK OF NEW YORK

UBAN SUGAR AWAITING SHIPMENT TO EUROPE. REFINED IN THE UNITED STATES FOR DOMESTIC USE AND EXPORT

American tariff makers are cheerfully killing two of the geese that have been laying for us the golden eggs of international trade, according to Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank of New York. Furthermore, they purpose to make a good thorough job of the slaughter by the enactment of the Fordney tariff bill.

In other words, he means that we are in a fair way to lose two of our best international customers—Canada and Cuba—by the erection of unreasonable tariff barriers against the importation of their goods. At the same time, he declares we are working serious harm to the economic structure of these two neighboring nations which have for many years been depending on the United States as their chief market.

"Canada has long since been our best customer, last year taking our exports to the amount of about a billion dollars—products which we are well fitted to produce and must have a market for," he says. "Canada, on the other hand, has shipped us principally grain, timber and paper products, to an amount of about seven hundred million dollars, leaving a balance in our favor of about three hundred million dollars last year. Her timber and paper products have filled a vacuum in our supply, and we are loath to conserve the limited timber resources of our own country."

Her grains have come to us for milling, the delivery from the mills constituting, as I choose to view it, a part of our exports to England and to Europe, while furnishing additional traffic to our railroads.

"We have taken steps during the year to kill that most desirable trade by placing a tariff of thirty-five cents per bushel, for instance, upon Canadian wheat. By so doing we are antagonizing these neighbors of the North to the point where they are seriously discussing a retaliatory tariff that doubtless would in the ultimate result in their milling their own grain and exporting their flour in competition with our exportable supply, as well as inviting English and European goods to enter their boundaries, not to mention competition with us, but under a freedom from tariff that would practically put our goods out of competition. By this process we shall have succeeded in antagonizing a good neighbor, we shall have fostered an export competition that may in time be exceedingly serious, and we shall have taken away from American industry a huge market that must obviously reduce the industrial earning power, the rewards of which would constitute a buying power for the very agricultural products that we are thus attempting through the tariff to protect."

Mr. Mitchell declares the situation in regard to Cuba is even worse.

"Morally and geographically, and in accord with the policy which from the time of the Spanish War until recent months has never been challenged, the United States is morally obligated to so conduct itself that the prosperity of Cuba may be guaranteed just as adequately as we are able to achieve and guarantee prosperity for ourselves," he reminds us. "I presume that in the minds of the majority of the people of this country the thought carries that we are maintaining toward Cuba a policy consistent with that character of national justice of which we are prone to be so proud. The unknowing would resent the implication that we are not honest in our relations with this small neighbor and even the cold-blooded of us, working upon the first principle that 'honesty is the best policy,' would scarcely believe that our relations could be tinged with anything but honesty. But what are the facts? "We long ago arranged by virtue of a tariff agreement, that Cuba give to the products of the United States an import differential that practically precludes competition from the island with goods coming from other countries. Having accomplished this, we turn about and lay an import tariff here of $1.00 per hundred pounds upon that greatest of products that Cuba exports—sugar—and this for the purpose of protecting the Eastern beet sugar industry, not an infant industry, for it is as old as many of the localities, but in the development of the Mississippi has shown itself as so uneconomic that it cannot possibly live in anything approaching a free market. "Congress dare not go before the public of the United States with an offer of a bounty to the corn grower, and much less to the beet sugar grower, but by virtue of our ability through our greater might and the position in which we find ourselves, it allows itself to be willing to put upon the rack our little brother Cuba, to the end that to the cost of producing sugar in Cuba may be added a burden equivalent to and probably in excess of that cost in order that an uneconomic industry of the United States may continue to grow. The consumer of sugar is thus called upon to pay not only over one and one-half cent extra for every pound of Cuban sugar he buys, but the same on every pound of beet sugar as well. The American consumer is obviously not the beneficiary.

"What is more, at the very moment that we are here discussing this matter, the powerful beet sugar lobby at Washington, with which the beet-sugar agricultural bloc is said to be in sympathy, is threatening that unless the Cuban Congress will agree to pass measures curtailing the production of Cuban sugar for the coming year it will insist in the halls of our Congress in Washington upon an increase of the tariff against Cuban sugar from $1.00 to $2.00 per hundred pounds.

"We who pride ourselves upon justice, are crucifying the little island of Cuba because it is within our power so to do. I do not think it adds or detracts from the argument that probably seventy per cent of the sugar producing properties in Cuba are American owned; the effects upon the Cuban Government and upon the Cuban people are the same regardless of this fact. We are placing Cuba where it seems to me, she must in the ultimate, plead either for annexation, which would take away the burden of her American trade taxes, or for a complete national freedom, which would enable her to take foreign imports on the same basis that she would take American imports, in which case there is every indication that through reciprocal trade relations established with England and Europe she would be able to export to their markets probably close to a third of her annual sugar crop.

"If further pressed by those who would find bounties for their industries through the medium of the American tariff, I am convinced there is no alternative in Cuba but revolt against destruction of her commerce, that is likely to end in armed intervention, the effect of which, from the standpoint of the American government, I think, is something none of us would care to look forward to.

"Our exports of manufactured products to Cuba amount to approximately four hundred million dollars per annum. Shall we, then, through the operation of the tariff in a manner that is unfair, dishonest and absolutely immoral, permit a condition that will cut off that great market for the American manufacturer?"

This question of a fair and equitable handling of the tariff Mr. Mitchell believes is one of the most vital problems facing American business in this year of 1922, which he pictures as a year of readjustment and reorganization. He does not lose sight of other important factors to be sure. Currencies and international exchanges must be stabilized. Prices and wages must be adjusted to each other. The devaluation of fiat money must be dispensed. The present governmental control of the railroads ought to be put on a more practical working basis. Nevertheless, he adds in conclusion, fair competition in this country can never be attained until foreign markets are again available to our products. This, of course, cannot readily be accomplished under hampering and unreasonable tariff laws.

Morning sermon based on Luke XV is one of a series given on this chapter. In this sermon we have discussed why Christ came. The Bible tells us He came to seek the lost.

What did He mean by a man being lost? Did He mean that a man was lost finally, or did He mean that they were lost to the true purposes of their lives? In the evening the subject will be "A Visit to the Rooms of Kings and Queens." In the year 1919 the pastor had the privilege of studying in the Metropolitan Museum of New York City. He was in the rooms of Queen Anne and King Charles of England. The rooms seemed to be complete and were gorgeous. The 22 chapters of Revelation are so many apartments, all gorgeously furnished. Welcome to our services.

Never Wants Anything Else. "I tried many different kinds of cough medicine," writes Mrs. E. K. Olson, 1917 Ohio avenue, Superior, Wis., "but I never want anything else than Foley's Honey and Tar. I used it for all my children and also for my grandchild. It has always done fine work." Foley's is a pure, wholesome and absolutely safe remedy for the relief of colds, coughs, croup and whooping cough. Children like it and it checks sneezing and sniffing. ## THE MOST IMPORTANT

Your walls, windows, curtains and pictures, being always on a level with the eye—are the most prominent and permanent features of every room; more important than floors or furniture for this reason.

All the more necessary, then, that the wall paper should strike the keynote that you wish to secure in any given room; for in this manner you will get the effect of dignity, of quiet, of cheeriness, of warmth or coolness, of height. Your choice of color can make a large room appear smaller, or a small one look larger than it really is. It may tone down a room too bright from a sunshine exposure, or make a dark room bright and cheery.

So it may be seen how much can be accomplished with a little more than usual care, and by keeping these facts in mind when choice is made. Our selection of wall papers is admirably assorted to secure any desired result at minimum cost.

Connellsville Building & Loan Assn. Enjoys Prosperous Life

The Connelville Building & Loan Association is rounding into its 26th year of a prosperous life. Founded in September, 1896, it was chartered January 11, 1897, being granted a perpetual charter. Its growth has been steady and at the close of the year in September, 1921, there were 225 stockholders on the books of the association.

The organization has a capital stock of $1,000,000 and the par value of each share is $200. There was a total of 1,670 shares in force at the end of the last year. During that year 412 shares were purchased.

Each year has seen thousands of dollars in loans made and a dividend of eight per cent was paid in 1921. Loans are granted on real estate or stock of the association. Mortgage loans last year totalled $98,825.

Stockholders may not be under 21 years of age although trustees, parents or guardians may hold stock for minors. There is a limited amount of stock for sale at this time.

The officers of the association are Edmund Dunn, president; F. A. Kail, vice-president; James L. Kurtz, secretary; J. Fred Kurtz, treasurer, and S. R. Goldsmith, solicitor. Directors are F. A. Kail, P. J. Tormay, J. M. Cecil, A. E. VanNatta, S. R. Goldsmith, Charles E. Soisson, A. M. Haines, Oliver Goldsmith and John Davis. J. M. Cecil, A. E. VanNatta and F. W. Neuroth are auditors.

O. S. Gettys Expects Big Boom In Wall Paper Business Soon

O. S. Gettys, a past master in the wall paper business, is possibly the veteran in the field in Connelville. He has been engaged in such work here for 20 years, first having his store on the location now occupied by P. R. Weber's music store. During that time he has extended his field of operations to many points in the territory surrounding Connelville.

Mr. Gettys is now located in South Pittsburg street, near Fairview avenue. He claims to have one of the largest and best paperhanging forces in the city.

A specialty to which Mr. Gettys gives much time is that dealing with the most up-to-date decorating. The best grades of imported and domestic designs in such work are given his personal attention.

In the past year there has been a big decrease in the price of wall paper, he says, the falling off amounting to almost 40 per cent. Now is the time, he declares, for owners of homes to make improvements which they delayed because of the high price of materials and he confidently expects that during the coming spring his working force will be taxed to capacity.

We Are Often Asked

"What is the Best Kind of a Heating Boiler?"

It is possible to use the cheapest make of boiler manufactured and get good results for a period of the life of the boiler providing the capacity is great enough and the piping and radiation is of sufficient size and properly installed. In other words with good engineering and mechanics who know how you might use very inferior materials and still have a heating plant that would give good service for a short period of time.

With bad engineering and poor mechanics the finest equipment in the world will be a failure.

By the use of a well-known standard brand of material, good engineering and skilled mechanics you cannot fail in having a satisfactory heating plant.

Today—The First Informal Showing of New Millinery Modes For Spring

BECAUSE modern woman must spend so very much of her time under a hat (no scientist would dare try to exactly compute it!) the question of "What for thee—and what for me?" in Millinery has come to assume gigantic importance. And because we are, as ever, prepared to help you make a millinery choice that will fit both your profile and your pocketbook we hasten to invite you to take part in this felicitous occasion—the Premier showing of the modes for Spring.

Briefly it is to be a season noted for its capriciousness. There will be no set "Mode"; no all prevailing color. On the contrary, there will be such a variety of styles and such a far-flung range of shades that one may choose a hat because it blends in with one's personality instead of warping one's personality to set off a hat. The East reports that Black,

Black and White, Navy and White, Canna, Periwinkle Blue, Dahlia, Tiger Lily and Fuschia are Fifth Avenue's favorite colors. Shapes vary all the way from commodious mushrooms to dapper turbans. The materials are faillie silk, taffeta and milan combined with straw. There is simply no limit to the attractiveness of these creations!

At any rate—that you may have just the proper touch to set off your new Tweed suit, your charming sport coat or your evening costume—we have entered into a pleasant conspiracy with such designers as Bruck-Weiss, Seydel, Randa, Rawak and Burgess. The fruits of that conspiracy you may see today in all their splendor. And prices will range $4.95 up.

A Sale of Spruce Spring Frocks at $19.75—$29.75—$35

Fashion will recognize three tendencies this Spring—The Russian which lends itself to clinging crepes and finds expression in low waistlines, and full flowing sleeves, gathered in tightly at the wrist. The Chinese, which favors side panels and a long straight bodice. And a harkening back to the spirit of 1860—found mostly in taffeta, the skirt bouffant, the bodice following natural lines. Frocks in this offering definitely reflect one or the other of these trends. They come in Canton Crepe, Chiffon Taffeta or Porlet Twill in the favored tints of American Beauty, Brick, Brown, Navy and Black. There is size and price variety enough among them to insure almost any woman finding the frock of her dreams.

Style Notes

An Oriental, tunic effect, has the deep armhole that marks a new phase in fashion. Cut steel beads are its only embellishment. $35

American Beauty, a cool ravishing tint of rose, appears in a Canton Crepe frock with flowing lines and string girle. $25.
Trimmings may be anything from beads to buttons. Where trimming is not used you find tucks, folds, bands, ruffles and other adaptations.

Style Notes

Crisp taffeta is the favored material in misses' dresses. Crepey fabrics for women who still look to and as his "mean" of sustenance" this little talk is for you.

The bouffant silhouette is most popular in misses' dresses. Some frocks have little underlaid of ermine to preserve their flared out effect.

Wool dresses in close-to-the-figure effects, have metal metal girdles and embroideries of bright wool.

Is Your Needle Poised In Air?

And are your thoughts gingham, instead of wool-gathering? The new wash goods are colorful ginghams and flower-like linens, several new weaves, resembling rattice, a new and fetching jumper material, and many color combinations in an attractive Dotted Swiss.

As for prices—suiting may be bought for as little as 20c yard. And all other markings are reasonable in proportion. Which may be one of the reasons why this is to be the greatest wash goods season ever. See them today.

High School Drops Game to Johnstown by Single Point; Schenley Hi Here Tonight

Davis Shoots Foul With Score Tied in Final Minute of Play.

CITY LEAGUE ON MONDAY

By James M. Driscoll
Sporting Editor.

That one-point margin, something for which Connellsville became famous early in the season, is proving a real boomerang. Although the locals formerly won a string of games by this narrow margin, Dame Fortune has changed her smile and the same dose is being administered the locals with a vengeance. Another one-point defeat was suffered last night at Johnstown, when Connellsville lost 35-33 in the very final minute of play. The rout secured through the week of relaxation had evidently aided the locals greatly. The team was right up on its toes all the time and never slowed down. Then in the last few seconds, with the score tied at 35-35 a foul was awarded Johnstown and Davis scored it. It was the winning point.

Solson was dropping them in from the free line, scoring 21 out of 25. The home aggregation, however, scored more points from the floor.

The Methodists won the title to the first half of the "Y" League at the Elmwood & Ohio Y. M. C. A. last night when the Clerks failed to put a team on the floor. The two outfits ended the first half of the season in a tie and the play-off was to have been last night.

A short writer says the referee in the Pittsford-Murdoch-Superior Athletic Club game at Mount Pleasant last night, handed the "indifferent" 11th baseball and basketball wires, are probably crossed.

DUNBAR TOWNSHIP HI WINS CLOSE GAME BY TWO POINTS, 23-21

Dunbar Township High team won from the Jeannette High at Leisewaring last night, 23-21. Fast play featured throughout and from the spectators' viewpoint the contest was a thrilling clash.

Overcoming a lead of four points held by Dunbar Township at the end of the first half, Jeannette tied the score and from that time until the end of the game the lead shifted, with both squads traveling at top speed.

"Y" Juniors Take Hard Clash From D. T. H. S. Reserves

The Baltimore & Ohio Y. M. C. A. Juniors played the Dunbar Township High School Reserves in a preliminary game last night at the Dunbar Township High School gymnasium. The "Y" quintet won after a hard-fought game, by a single point. The final result was 24-23. Davis was the star for the Reserves, scoring seven field goals. He also made 3 out of 11 from the free line.

Pittsford Murdochs Victors Over Mount Pleasant Superiors

The Superior Athletic Club of Mount Pleasant was defeated by the Pittsford Murdochs in a game at the armory there last night. It was a game of stars, Home and Guest, being with the Athletics and Givell, who made a name for himself at W. & I. College, dining up with the Murdochs. The score was 55-36.

FRAT-TROTTER CLASH IN CITY LEAGUE ON MONDAY PROMISING

Two more City League games are scheduled for Monday night. The Casey Club and Capstan play the opening contest, scheduled to begin at 7:45 o'clock sharp and the Unity Fraternity meets Trotter in the second clash.

The Casey Club should defeat Capstan unless the glass blowers uncover some basketball not yet displayed by them in the City League.
The Unity Fraternity-Trotter clash is a promising one. The Trotter team demonstrated in its previous two games just what it could do in the way of playing snappy basketball. Last Wednesday fans were surprised at the game put up by the Frat team, however, and followers of the league frankly say they cannot "dope" the game. It is certain to be a humdinger. The Frat is out to win and tie with Trotter for a position up front.

Mount Pleasant Fails to Appear On Capstan Floor

SOUTH CONNELLSVILLE, Feb. 25.—The game between the Capstan A. basketball team and the Mount Pleasant High School was forfeited last evening by Mount Pleasant boys for not appearing. The Mount Pleasant team came over on Thursday evening, claiming that the game was scheduled on that date. When it left here Thursday evening to go back home members said that they wouldn't come back for a game last night.

The next game Capstan has scheduled is in the City League when it goes against the Casey Club on the Parochial Hall floor, on Monday evening.
The students of the Gibson High School carried out a very successful patriotic program yesterday afternoon.

J. J. Evans is having a new big sun parlor built on the back of his home at Second street and Allegheny avenue.
Louis Finley, conductor on the afternoon shift of the South Connelleville street car line, claims that he saw a sure sign of spring yesterday afternoon at the end of the car line—a robin.

COCKERS PLAY SCHENLEY HIGH SCHOOL HERE THIS EVENING

Connellsville High plays another Pittsburg team at the High School this evening. The game will begin at 8:15 o'clock sharp. The visitors will be the Schenley High School quintet, a team well up in the City Section of the W. P. I. A. League.

Connellsville has outplayed every Pittsburg school here this season and has defeated three of the best by one-point margins. In fact, the Saturday night games here have gained quite a reputation for their thrills and each week-end sees the gym galleries filled. With Schenley here this evening another such contest is looked for and the crowd will be on hand to cheer.

The Detroit Tigers and Rochester Redwings will team together in the spring. Most of their games will be played in Georgia, where the two rival managers, both Georgians, should find warm welcomes.

COACH DOBIE QUITE HARD ON YALE STARS

A story is told of a tall, spare man who sat on the top of the Harvard stadium at the Yale game taking notes.
A Harvard alumnus, interested and curious, started a conversation. The tall, spare man was asked if he were a scout or something.
"My name's Dobie," was the answer. "I'm coach at Cornell."
Between halves the conversation was renewed. The Harvard man was anxious about the game.
"Don't worry," advised the other, "that team," indicating Harvard "has sand and brains."

Your Son's Clothes

By Wright-Metzler Co.
If you are a man with a son in his teens or a son just out of his teens who still looks to and as his "mean" of sustenance" this little talk is for you.

What kind of clothes do you buy for the lad? Perhaps you, a business man of many affairs, give him the money and let him make his own selection, or tell him to go to this store or that where you have an account? Unless you are a very wealthy man, this is a very unwise course to pursue. Many a clothing dealer considers such a case the "chance of a lifetime." He takes advantage of the boy's carelessness or ignorance and sells him an inferior suit made in a stylish cut to make up for the poor quality of the material. If he knows who you are and thinks you can afford it, he may even add a couple of dollars to the original price. It is not to be inferred that any clothing dealer would do this—but the unscrupulous dealer would.

Make it your business to accompany the youth or send him to a merchant whose dealings are always above reproach, when you know you can trust and whose experience and good judgment will guide the young man to a wise choice.
Clothing for young men is a very interesting and important phase of life, and deserving of much more time and attention than the average father can give them. From a financial standpoint it is not only worthy of his attention, but from the standpoint of appearance that the son's well-dressed look may reflect the good inside of the man.
Know a man by his clothes.
